12 p.m. – 1 p.m.	Culture of Care: Empathy on Campus What does a “culture of care” mean to you? How does Harper College care for and support students, faculty and staff? This session will provide an engaging discussion around what this means inside the classroom, as well as each and every opportunity we have when we engage with students and with our colleagues at Harper. You’ll also learn more about the initiatives in supporting a “culture of care” from the Student Experience Strategic Goal Team. Join the Culture of Care team as we explore the impact of excellent service in improving the student experience. Open to: All faculty and staff Facilitators: Amy Kaminski and Darby Lanpher	D178
12 p.m. – 1 p.m.	OSCQR Rubric Have you gotten to know OSCQR yet? If not, then join us at this session! OSCQR is the “Open SUNY Course Quality Review” rubric and process used to enhance the design and accessibility of online course content. Come learn how Harper utilized OSCQR last year, and how we plan to utilize OSCQR this academic year. After hearing the benefits first-hand from fellow faculty members, you may decide to become an OSCQR fan too! Open to: All faculty Facilitator: Academy for Teaching Excellence	D274

1 p.m. – 2 p.m.	New Features in Blackboard Join the Academy for Teaching Excellence to learn more about new features in Blackboard such as Content Collection and Collaborate Ultra. Instructors can now use the Content Collection to store, share and publish content. Files can be easily repurposed and linked from any Blackboard course. When a file that is stored in the Content Collection needs updating, faculty need to update it only once inside the Content Collection, eliminating the need to go into each course to upload an updated version of the file. Blackboard Collaborate with the Ultra Experience is a simple, convenient and reliable web conferencing solution built for education and training. Thanks to robust collaboration and conference tools, everyone feels like they're in the same room together, regardless of their location or device. Open to: All faculty Facilitator: Karen Herold	D278
1 p.m. – 2 p.m.	Trygve Thoreson Presents Harper College, The First 50 Years Trygve Thoreson, recently retired from the Harper English Department, has completed the first book of Harper's history titled, Harper College, The First 50 Years. In this session, Trygve will describe his experience writing the book and key moments in the college's history. This is an excellent session to learn more about Harper's eclectic story. For faculty, Trygve will also cover ways to include the book in your curriculum through reading and writing assignments. Open to: All faculty and staff Facilitator: Trygve Thoreson	D276
2 p.m. – 3:15 p.m.	Teaching Latin America Today: Report From the Faculty International Field Seminar to Central America In May and June, 13Harper College faculty traveled to Guatemala, El Salvador, and Nicaragua as part of the second Faculty International Field Seminar. The program is designed to strengthen undergraduate education on the subject of Latin America, with particular attention to the three countries visited, and ultimately contribute towards the preparation of students for careers and citizenship in an increasingly interconnected world. Participating faculty have created curriculum projects for infusion in their classes this fall, acquired new competencies in cross-cultural communication, and gained the ability to mentor students based on their field experiences in Latin America. Join us to hear about their experiences and learn how you might incorporate information about Latin America in your courses! There will be photos! Open to: All faculty and staff Facilitator: Rich Johnson	Z102
3 p.m. – 4 p.m.	What Do You Know About Harper? Join us for an exciting game that will challenge your knowledge of Harper College in friendly competition with your colleagues. What is the College mission? How are learning goals developed? How does the College allocate resources? This fun and engaging session will begin to prepare you for interaction with the Higher Learning Commission Peer Review Team, on campus March 5-6, 2018. Prizes! Snacks! Fun! Open to: All faculty and staff Facilitator: Julie Ellefson	D193
4 p.m. – 9 p.m.	Adjunct Faculty Teaching & Learning Conference The Adjunct Faculty Teaching & Learning Conference is a great way for all adjunct faculty to connect with Harper, colleagues, and the Academy for Teaching Excellence. This year's conference will focus on the work of our communities of practice and will include engaging presentations with direct applications to the classroom, networking opportunities, food (appetizers, dinner, and desserts), door prizes, and more. You will also have the opportunity to join a community of practice for the fall and find out more about the exciting work being done by our adjunct and full-time faculty already involved in these communities. One attendee at the conference last year said "This is a perfect way to begin the school year!" We hope you'll join us for an inspiring, supportive, fun way to start the fall semester! Open to: Adjunct faculty Facilitator: Academy for Teaching Excellence RSVP: http://bit.ly/TLC-Aug2017	Wojcik Conference Center
